About Dr Bakhtawar Singh:

Born in 1906 in West Punjab into a family of Govt Officials in the Punjab Irrigation department, he went to a Gurukul school, excelled in studies and got admission in Medical College and later joined the medical profession. In 1935 he went to Kenya as there was requirement of Indian doctors to take care of large Indian workforce employed by the British for building Kenyan railway network. He settled down in Kisumu and became a prominent member of the Indian Medical & Dental Association of Kenya. He earned immense goodwill from the Indian community as also from his European clients. He gave excellent education opportunities to his three sons and two amongst them joined the medical profession. These Academic Excellence Awards are instituted in his memory and sponsored by his son Dr Manmeet Singh
